Shri. Devinder Mahajan's Visit to Pondicherry My 2nd Visit to Jeevan Prabhat Pondicherry - Nov 17, 18 & 19

Dear Arya Bandhus:

I am writing this letter to share with you my impressions & progress related to this project.

1. Construction Status: For the information of those who may not know, APSA (Arya Pratinidhi Sabha America) had committed to build. Jeevan Prabhat Pondicherry for the orphans & extremely poor children after Tsunami disaster based on a very similar concept as Jeevan Prabhat Gandhidham. About two acres of land was purchased & last year a permanent boundary wall & entry gate was completed. Conceptual drawings have been approved & details drawings are in the process of being prepared & hopefully submitted by the end of this year for approval. Read More ...

Holiday Readathon for Jeevan Prabhat (December 10, 2006 – January 7, 2007)

“Together let us gift them back their childhood”

Dear Children,

Most of you have heard about the Tsunami disaster, which killed many people and left many children as orphans. Their faith and hopes were shattered by this tragedy. With the grace of Almighty GOD, we are blessed with a chance of rearing some of these children as our own at Jeevan Prabhat Pondicherry. Read More...

Inner Sciences: Can We Prove Them? – Part I By Dr. Harish Chander

The term "inner sciences" pertains to a scientific inquiry when we traverse inward of a subject of interest. If our inquiry pertains to the human beings then we are interested in the innermost core of a human being where resides a tiny infinitesimal soul – the individual spirit. Read More...

Respected Acharya Ji, Namaste.

I am pleased to let you know that we received the books last Friday. I must thank you for the treasurer you have collected, maintained and compiled it in such a nice way.

We will make the best use of it in our Sunday school. Please feel free to send us any more literature which is beneficial to the school. Once again we are thankful to you and Arya Samaj Greater Houston for this noble gesture.

Mul Raj Sethii.
